Where circumstances are appropriate, the Sub-Fund may hold ancillary liquid assets in current or deposit accounts or in regularly traded short term money market instruments issued or guaranteed by highly rated institutions and having a remaining maturity of less than 12 months.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

Risk Disclaimer

The risk and reward indicator illustrates where the Sub-Fund is positioned in terms of its possible risks relative to its potential rewards. The higher the Sub-Fund's position on this scale, the greater the possible reward, but also the greater risk of losing money. This risk indicator is calculated using historical data, which cannot be used as a prediction for the future. Therefore the risk classification may change over time. Even if the Sub-Fund is in the lowest risk class you can lose money, as no investments are entirely risk free.

Why is this Sub-Fund in this category?

Based on fund data and/or proxy calculations, the level of the risk-reward profile is 5. Investing in equities may offer a higher rate of return than those in debt securities. The risks associated with investments in equities may also be higher, because the investment performance of equity securities depends on factors which are difficult to predict. Such factors include the possibility of sudden or prolonged market declines and risks associated with individual companies. The fundamental risk associated with any equity portfolio is the risk that the value of the investments it holds might decrease. Equity security values may fluctuate in response to the activities of an individual company or in response to the general market and/or economic conditions.

Not all risks affecting the Sub-Fund are adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator. The following risks may affect the Sub-Fund:

Liquidity risk - investments that could have a lower level of liquidity due to (extreme) market conditions or issuer-specific factors and / or large redemptions of shareholders. Liquidity risk is the risk that a position in the portfolio cannot be sold, liquidated or closed at limited cost in an adequately short time frame as required to meet liabilities of the Sub-Fund.

Operational risk - due to issues such as natural disasters, technical problems and fraud.

Counterparty risk - the possibility that the counterparty, such as brokers, clearing houses and other agents be unable to perform its obligations due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes.

Investing in China risk - the Sub-Fund intends to gain exposure to the financial securities of the People's Republic of China ("China") without directly investing in the PRC (excluding Hong Kong). Investments in China will be sensitive to any political, social, economic, legal and regulatory developments which may take place in or in relation to China, which may adversely impact on the securities markets in China as well as the performance of the Sub-Fund.

Currency risk - this exists when the Sub-Fund invests in assets denominated in a different currency. A devaluation of the asset's currency relative to the currency of the Sub-Fund will lead to a reduction in the value of the Sub-Fund.

Emerging markets risk - the risk arising from political and institutional factors which make investments in emerging markets less liquid and subject to potential difficulties in dealing, settlement, accounting and custody.

Derivative risk - the Sub-Fund may use derivatives as described in the above section - Objectives and Investment Policy. Use of derivatives results in higher chances of loss due to the use of leverage, or borrowing. Derivatives allow investors to earn large returns from small movements in the underlying asset's price. However, investors could lose large amounts if the price of the underlying assets moves against them significantly.

Full details of all risks the Sub-Fund is exposed to can be found in the prospectus for the Fund (the "Prospectus").
