RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

Risk Disclaimer

The risk and reward indicator illustrates where the Sub-Fund is positioned in terms of its possible risks relative to its potential rewards. The higher the Sub-Fund's position on this scale, the greater the possible reward, but also the greater risk of losing money. This risk indicator is calculated using annualised volatility data, which cannot be used as a prediction for the future. Therefore the risk classification may change over time. Even if the Sub-Fund is in the lowest risk class you can lose money, as no investments are entirely risk free.

Why is this Sub-Fund in this category?

The Sub-Fund is subject to a medium level of risk being linked to typical risks of securities markets, such as the macro-economic trends at global level. At this time, the level of the risk and reward profile is equal to 4.

Not all risks affecting the Sub-Fund are adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator. The following risks may affect the Sub-Fund:

Emerging markets risk - the risk arising from political and institutional factors which make investments in emerging markets less liquid and subject to potential difficulties in dealing, settlement, accounting and custody.

Liquidity risk - investments that could have a lower level of liquidity due to (extreme) market conditions or issuer-specific factors and / or large redemptions of shareholders. Liquidity risk is the risk that a position in the portfolio cannot be sold, liquidated or closed at limited cost in an adequately short time frame as required to meet liabilities of the Sub-Fund.

Operational risk - due to issues such as natural disasters, technical problems and fraud.

Credit risk - is the possibility that a bond issuer will fail to pay interest and principal in a timely manner.

Asset allocation risk - the risk that the Sub-Fund could lose money as a result of less than optimal or poor asset allocation decisions as to how its assets are allocated or reallocated.

Counterparty risk - the possibility that the counterparty, such as brokers, clearing houses and other agents be unable to perform its obligations due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes.

Currency risk - this exists when the Sub-Fund invests in assets denominated in a different currency. A devaluation of the asset's currency relative to the currency of the Sub-Fund will lead to a reduction in the value of the Sub-Fund.

Derivative risk - the Sub-Fund may use derivatives as described in the above section - Objectives and Investment Policy. Use of derivatives results in higher chances of loss due to the use of leverage, or borrowing. Derivatives allow investors to earn large returns from small movements in the underlying asset's price. However, investors could lose large amounts if the price of the underlying assets moves against them significantly.

Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect Risk - the Sub-Fund may be investing in China "A" shares via the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock

Connect which may entail additional clearing and settlement, regulatory, operational and counterparty risks.

Investing in China risk - the Sub-Fund intends to gain exposure to the financial securities of the People's Republic of China ("China") without directly investing in the PRC (excluding Hong Kong). Investments in China will be sensitive to any political, social, economic, legal and regulatory developments which may take place in or in relation to China, which may adversely impact on the securities markets in China as well as the performance of the Sub-Fund.

Investments in Russia Risk - the Sub-Fund may be investing in Russia. Investments in Russia are currently subject to certain heightened risks with regard to ownership and custody of securities.

Full details of all risks the Sub-Fund is exposed to can be found in the prospectus for the Fund (the "Prospectus").
